Training increases the Squadron's base stats, of which there are three: physical, mental, and tactical. If you eat two pieces of food the time on the buff will stack up to an hour. Free Company - Most Free Companies have the Heat of Battle buff active which will give you a 5%-15% EXP bonus depending on the rank of the buff. Armory Bonus - The armory bonus is applied to all your classes below your highest level class. However, you need four recruits to form a Squadron. Grand Companies in FFXIV 3. Most of these are from pre-ordering expansions or buying the collector's editions. You are able to gain rewards based on Squadron Chemistry, such as materia, crafting and gathering scrips, and consumables that allow you to change the class of your Squadron members. This has two results: either the mission was a success or the mission was a failure. You can have a maximum of eight Squadron members in your Barracks at one time and up to five enlistments. Recruits are predetermined, and selected based on the category of Challenge Log you complete. Dungeons Dungeons are a great way to grind XP. As you can see, completing it awards me with 5,4M XP at level 69 which is half a level. You can then choose whether or not you would like to recruit them. Hunting Log Hunting log entries are very fast to complete and give a good amount of XP. How to Obtain Squadron Recruits Upon unlocking the Squadron system, you will receive three recruits right away. You can buy cheap food from vendors and any food will do. Advancement in the Squadron system is also tied to further advancements in Grand Company rank. Alternatively, you can use the Squadron Enlistment Manual item, which automatically grants you a random recruit. Finally, you can choose to dismiss them. I will usually complete these Challenge Log entries: Complete 3 dungeons via the Duty Roulette Complete 5 Dungeons You're the Hest Around 1 & 11 (One Guildhest per day, and the rest on the last day before reset) Exercising the Right In Your Fate 1 & 11 Just Leve It to Me & Making Like a Tree Keep an eye on your challenge log every week. You must first undertake the mission City Patrol in order to unlock further missions. Completing Squadron Missions After enlisting your first recruit, you can begin to send your Squadron members on missions. Command Missions in FFXIV 8. How to Unlock Adventurer Squadrons To unlock the Squadron system, players must first attain the rank of Second Lieutenant in their Grand Company and unlock the Challenge Log. Routine Missions are harder missions that grant greater rewards. The Squadron system allows you to recruit, train, and fight alongside NPC adventurers in instanced dungeons. If your Squadron does not meet the stat requirement, the mission will have a greater chance to fail. In this guide, we will show you the fastest ways of leveling to level 80 in FFXIV on new characters and on alts, whether you prefer to solo or level in a group. 5. Command Missions - Dungeons with your AI Squadron If you prefer to solo, you can do Command Missions with your Squadron from level 20 to 60. This item can be purchased with seals once you reach the rank of First Lieutenant. Rewards from Adventurer Squadrons Once your Squadron returns from a mission, you are greeted with a Squadron Mission Report. In Bozjan, up to 72 players participate in large scale battles. If you see a little moon symbol on your XP bar, you are earning rested XP, and the blue part of your XP bar is your accumulated XP. Food Buff - You will get a 3% XP bonus from eating food which isn't much but you will also get stat bonuses and every bit helps. Completing these will reward players with Squadron Manuals. You can interact with Squadrons by heading to the Barracks of your Grand Company, located in the Company Hall. Palace of the Dead (PoTD) At level 17 you can start doing the first deep dungeon, Palace of the Dead. Only takes a minute or two so I usually do them for the "You're the Hest Around" Challenge Log entries. Completing Command Missions Upon reaching Squadron Rank 2, players can unlock Command Missions by talking to the Squadron Sergeant NPC inside the Barracks. The Friendship Circlet (20% to level 26) can be from the Recruit a Friend Program, and the Brand New Ring (30% to level 31) is easily attained from completing the Adventurers Guild Trials. Fates Mix fates with your Hunting Log up to around level 15. The first time you run a dungeon on a character you will get bonus XP. For each recruit, you are able to view their name, race, gender, origin, class, level, stats, affinities, and reason for enlistment. Leveling your first class vs. leveling all the rest is a bit different. You can read more about Command Missions, how the system works, and the rewards you can get on our dedicated page, which is linked below. Story For your first class, you should be sticking mainly to the Main Scenario quests. It must be assigned to a member, and any unassigned chemistry is lost upon starting a new mission. 2. You must dismiss one of your current members if you wish to enlist a new recruit. Healers & Tanks have the advantage of having shorter queues while leveling which might speed up leveling. Second Chance points are also easily acquired from duties and dungeons. 6. Always run the highest dungeon available for the best XP per hour. Challenge Log The Challenge log is reset every week and the challenges often involve activities that you will be doing anyway and can reward you with a huge amount of XP, so be sure to do these every week. Fates are also good for DPS classes when waiting for queues. Show more Show less Welcome to our Final Fantasy XIV leveling guide, updated for Shadowbringers. In addition, each mission has a level and stat requirement. The best way to farm PoTD is by clearing floors 51-60. These give a huge chunk of XP and you will have to do these anyway to unlock much of the content in the game. Priority Missions are the hardest normal missions and grant the greatest rewards. In addition, successful Priority Missions reward Squadron Manuals, a consumable that grants you the equivalent of Tier 3 Free Company buffs for 24 hours each. If you have any questions or suggestions for our FFXIV Leveling Guide, let us know in the comments below! Command Missions are dungeons that you run with your AI-controlled Squadron. Look to your top left corner if you are unsure where your next story or class quest is. All training courses take one hour real time to complete and grant the entire Squadron experience points. 2021: Guide added. XP Buffs and Bonuses Preferred Server Bonus - New players who want to level quickly should pick the Preferred Servers when starting out to get the "Road to 70" buff which will double XP until level 70 for 90 days. Rested XP - Always remember to log out in a sanctuary to get the Rested 50% XP bonus which charges up to 1.5 levels. Class Quests Every 5 levels you will unlock new class quests, these give even more XP than the story quests, so be sure to always pick these up. Like the Main Scenario quests, Class quests will show up when available in the top left corner of your screen. If you are uncertain of where to go next for the main story, look no further than the top left corner of the screen and the game will tell you what quest is next in the Main Scenario. Each mission requires an expenditure of Grand Company seals. Squadron members have a chance to gain Squadron Chemistry upon completion of a successful mission. Talk to Khloe to receive your Wondrous Tails. Do Hunting Log or Fates when in queue. 61-70 - HoH, highest available dungeons. 71-80 - Dungeons, Bozjan Southern Front, or current level fates. You can train your Squadron members three times a day. If the mission was unsuccessful, they will only receive half of the experience point gain. Missions take 18 hours real time to complete. Use your Second Chance points to reset tasks that you have completed and all you'll have to do is just a few dungeons and some easy raids to complete the seals. Do each Guildhest at least once, as these will teach you some important tactics for dungeons and group play. 1. The best Roulletes in terms of XP are: Alliance Raids - These are usually done very fast. Main Scenario (MSQ) - Much slower but awards a huge amount of XP. Leveling Trials - usually completed in less than 10 minutes Normal Raids - Also very fast Level 50/60/70 Dungeons Guildhests - Decent for lower levels. 4. What are Adventurer Squadrons? Flagged Missions are special, but difficult missions that unlock new missions. Squadron Chemistry are stat boosts or chances to gain bonus rewards based on the composition of the Squadron. Suggested Leveling Route Do your available Class Quests, Duty Roulletes, Challenge Log, and Wondrous Tails when available. Level 1-15/17 - Hunting Log, Fates, and Guildhests. Level 15-60 - PoTD, highest available dungeons or Command Missions. You will also be completing Challenge Log entries and Wondrous Tails along the way on the Roulletes. Use the Duty Finder daily for some of the best XP in the game. You must then complete a quest offered at the Company Hall called Squadron and Commander. 9. New recruits can be viewed with the Enlistment Papers. There are different training courses that focus on different stats, and one training course that does not alter stats at all but grants bonus experience points. One of the main features you unlock after ranking up in your Grand Company is Adventurer Squadrons. Leveling Your First Character Final Fantasy XIV is a bit different from other MMOs since it allows one character to level up all the classes in the game. Leveling your first class in FFXIV will take quite some time as you need to finish the Main Scenario story, all classes after that will go much quicker and can easily be done in a few days. Deep Dungeons There are two deep dungeons in FFXIV and they provide some of the best XP in the game for certain level ranges. This resets every week and ticking off 9 seals in the journal will award you with a massive amount of XP. Bozjan Southern Front At level 71 you will have another option for leveling, Bozjan Southern Front. All you have to do is complete dungeons and duties listed in the journal on the left side. Leveling Alts in Final Fantasy XIV Now that you are ready to level your second, third, or 18th class, things will go a bit faster, much due to the Armory Bonus. To enlist new recruits, players must complete entries in your Challenge Log, which gives a random chance to gain a new recruit. The Hunting Log provides the best XP for first 15 levels. Final Fantasy XIV Leveling FAQ In FFXIV there really isn't any fastest class to level. Look on your map to find level appropriate fates Duty Roulette Roulletes are another huge source of XP, and you should try to do these daily. If you want to, you can of course switch it up a bit and do your Hunting Log, Challenge Log, Fates, and Roulletes in between the story quests. Especially for the first 15 levels, after that, they are still worth doing if you are going to the area anyway, but don't go out of your way to complete these later on. You can also postpone the enlistment, though selecting this option prevents you from seeing any other potential recruits. Command Missions allow players to enter specific instanced dungeons with three members of their Squadron. If none of your Squadron members meet the level requirement, you will not be able to undertake the mission. To complete these missions, your Squadron must meet all three stat requirements. The XP here is pretty good, especially for DPS classes who might have long queue times in dungeons. If you like the recruit, you can select "Question" to view their profile. Wondrous Tails At level 60 you can visit Khloe Alaph in Idylshire to receive the Wondrous Tails journal. Completing 9 seals is rather easy. Heaven-on-High (HoH) Heaven-on-High can be started at level 61, and the best floors to farm are 21-30. To unlock these you have to become Second Lieutenant in your Grand Company. If the mission was successful, the Squadron will receive experience points and potentially gain Squadron Chemistry. 7. Training Recruits After completing your first Squadron Mission, you unlock the ability to train your recruits. There are four different types of missions: Trainee Missions are given to new Squadrons and are the easiest missions to complete. So if you are already level 80 in one class you will get a bonus on all your classes. Changelog 15 Oct. Players must first have unlocked them and spend Company seals to enter. 100% up to level 70, and 50% from 70 to 80. Item XP Buffs - Certain items will give you an XP bonus.
